

AUTUMN LECTURES AT THE INSTITUTE

Friday 13 October at 18:00

Marianne Hem Eriksen

Processing, Curating and Fragmenting Skulls in Iron and Viking Age Scandinavia

Venue: The Norwegian Institute in Rome, Viale XXX Aprile 33, 00153 Rome

followed by a reception

Marianne Hem Eriksen is Associate Professor at the Museum of Cultural History at the University of Oslo, and is in 2017/2018 a Visiting Fellow at the McDonald Institute for Archaeological Research, University of Cambridge. Her research focus is the archaeology of late prehistoric Scandinavia (the Bronze, Iron and Viking Ages), primarily approached through settlement remains

